

PRINCE OF THUNDER©

The Battle for Paradise Online Video Game

“Within the Human Heart lies the Fate of the Universe.”

Prince of Thunder is © 2001 Interactive Multi-Universal. All Rights Reserved.

Prince of Thunder is a first-person perspective action adventure video game created for the PC/X-Box that sweeps the player into the celestial realm where valiant angelic hosts battle depraved demon hordes in an epic struggle for the freedom of all living spirit and flesh.

THE GREAT DIVIDE

“On the edge of a great divide between Lighte and Darke we stand, while in the midst lies the fate of all the realms.”

Far beyond the dawn of time, the Greater Consciousness stirred within the endless void and conceived the Emypreans, a glorious race of spirit beings brought forth to thrive, grow and bring purpose to the universe. Desire for knowledge inspired the Emypreans to explore and populate countless celestial realms. Fruitful gardens of illumination blossomed. Peace reigned. Sadly, unquenchable desire gave birth to the fear of losing what was gained. Fear aroused pride, envy and the Great War. Evil corrupted the spirit of the once noble race. The Darke turned from the Lighte. Paradise was divided.

The Great War raged. The tumultuous energies released by the clash of Lighte and Darke provoked volcanic eruptions spewing rivers of lava that carved Great Rift Valleys across the lands. Boundless oceans of flame spread over the face of the green valleys, flowering meadows and bountiful fields. The suffering of the virtuous was great. Paradise stood scarred, diseased and hopeless. Chaos reigned for an Age.

BROKEN TIES

After the cataclysm, a highborn family of Lighte beings was chosen by divine revelation to rebuild Paradise. Many now call these beings Angels. Hordes of Darke spirit beings practiced dark sorcery that drove them mad. Burned and blinded by Evil, these nomadic Demons formed tribes that fed upon one another to survive in Hell, a desolate wasteland of outcasts. Some even crossed to the Earthly plane to make wives of the daughters of Men. Fueled by hate, the Darke Demons sought to extinguish all light, order and illumination. In defense, the Angels built a grand Celestial Citadel in the midst of the highlands surrounded by the cooling amber seas of magma. Three princely brothers, Balam, Paymon, and Zacharael led the Angelic Hosts against the Demons, but their alliance was doomed.

Balam the firstborn envied his younger brother Zacharael's favor with the Greater Consciousness, and was tempted to betrayal. The Darke Sorceress Illyith, born of a human mother, promised Balam the legendary Crown of Thunder if he would serve the powers of Hell. As the Prince of Thunder, Balam would be as the Greater Consciousness, able to command all the dynamic forces of nature. Paymon, lusting for Illyith, joined Balam in his plot to overthrow the Lighte in exchange for power. Both brothers cultivated sinister Darke powers until madness and disfigurement consumed them. Totally corrupted by Evil, they were banished.

THE ORDER OF DOMINATIONS

In the Present Age, the wisest Emypreans have gathered to bring order out of chaos, forming the benevolent Order of Dominations. Spirit warriors from both the Lighte and the Darke have sought refuge within this noble brotherhood. Inspired by the Greater Consciousness, Zacharael has been chosen as Steward of the Light, though his quest is twofold. He commands the Heavenly Hosts in battle against the Legions of the Darke, but he also searches for the One worthy to accept the title of Prince of Thunder. Urged by many to take the crown himself, the Greater Consciousness has charged Zacharael with the sacred duty to seek out the One.

Since the Angels fell, their redemption now comes through the most fragile created beings: a human soul. Only a human spiritually united with an Angel, a Kindred Soul, may wear the Crown of Thunder. The fate of Paradise lies in the heart of humanity. Who will pass the grueling tests ahead? Which side will they choose? What price will they pay for earning the legendary title 'Prince of Thunder'?

Original 'Spawn' Prologue (For Reference Only)

“The battle between the Darkness and the Light has waged eternal, their armies fueled by souls harvested on Earth. The Lord of Darkness, Malebolgia, has sent a lieutenant to recruit men who will help destroy the world in exchange for wealth and power, and provide enough souls to complete his army and allow Armageddon to begin.

All Malebolgia needs now is a great soldier. Someone to lead his hordes to the gates of Heaven and burn them down.”

APPROXIMATE RUNNING TIME: 40 SECONDS. WORD COUNT: 78

PRINCE OF THUNDER CINEMATIC PROLOGUE

“Heaven is at war. In defense of Paradise, Valiant Angels wield cosmic energies against the forces of Darkness. War is rapidly destroying the Spirit Realm. If their world falls, our world falls. One brave human soul can turn the tide and end the destruction. The fate of Heaven and Earth depends on the Prince of Thunder. Champion of Light or Darke? One soul. One choice. One Prince.

Join the battle. Shut out the Light or watch Darkness fall.”

APPROXIMATE RUNNING TIME: 40 SECONDS. WORD COUNT: 78